Celebrate "Making Our Voices Heard"

How Staunton Kept its Historic Architecture

STAUNTON, VA – Staunton is known for its historic architecture and is celebrated nationally for its historic preservation. Did you know that had it not been for engaged citizens, it might look very different today? Learn this history and how your voice can make a difference. The Woodrow Wilson Presidential Library will host a drop-in open house on Sunday, October 16, from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the Staunton Innovation Hub at 11 N Central Ave, Staunton, VA, 24401.

Civic Engagement has played a significant role in how Staunton looks today. People who have made their voices heard have seen many changes throughout the city. Join community members to learn this valuable history.

Emily Kilgore, Director of Education and Engagement, explained, "this program is designed to give people of all ages the knowledge and appreciation for civics and community involvement." The event is free and open to the public.
